The Diamond DA42 Twin Star is a four seat, twin-engine composite airplane developed and manufactured by Austrian company Diamond Aircraft Industries. In 2004, the DA42 became the first diesel-powered fixed-wing aircraft to perform a non-stop crossing of the North Atlantic. The flight continued 28 hours with average consumption 11.2 gal/h. Currently DA42 is used primarily as air taxi, but some government customers employed it in the aerial surveillance role (DA-42MPP).

The model is executed on technology short run, and is intended only for experienced modelers.
