TWO VERSIONS OF COLOURING

The Dassault Falcon 50 is a French super mid-sized, long-range business jet, featuring a trijet layout with an S-duct air intake for the central engine. It has the same fuselage cross section and similar capacity as the earlier twin-engine Falcon 20 but is a completely new design that is area ruled and includes a more advanced wing design. The first prototype flew on 7 November 1976, with French airworthiness certification on 27 February 1979, followed by U.S. Federal Aviation Administration certification on 7 March 1979.
